CHARLOTTE ABRAHAMSON

"Charlotte"

Pro Merito; Exponent (4); Year Book (4); "Trial by Jury" (4); Commercial Club (3, 4); Science Club (4).

Charlotte's beautiful voice has contributed much to the success of the musical organizations of G. H. S. Besides her musical ability, she has done well in scholarship and is one of our Class Day speakers.

STANLEY BERNARD BANNACH

"Pro"

Stanley is the quiet boy who saunters along the corridors apparently without a care in the world. He has no plans for the immediate future, but in whatever he undertakes, the class wishes him luck.

ANNA MARIE AUKSTOULIS

"Annie"

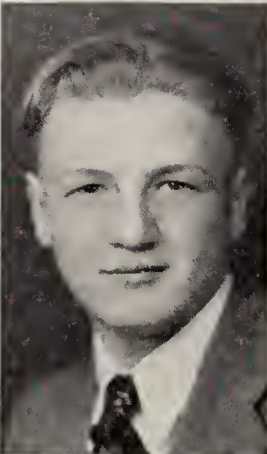

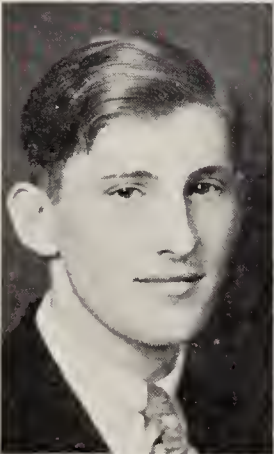

"Annie" is the quiet girl from Room 14 who displays a changed personality when she leaves the school. However, she is quite an active member of the 6th period Math class. Best wishes, "Annie"!

STEPHANIA MARY BANNACH

"Dimples"

"Plugs"—Intramurals (1, 2, 3, 4); Commercial Club (3, 4).

"Dimples" is the continuously smiling and happy girl who is an active member in commercial work, as well as a fine basketball player, especially in conjunction with her friends, Helen and Jessie.

EDWARD MELVIN AYER, JR.

"Ed"

Football, second team (2); Senior Dance Committee (4).

"Ed" is a happy-go-lucky fellow whose life has so been occupied in having a good time that he has hardly had time for studying. However, he is always ready to help and has done much for the Senior dances.

Just "Eddie"
Edward Ayer

WASLAW JOSEPH BANNACH

"Skeezix"

Evidently the activities at Green River Park were very interesting, for Waslaw did not participate very much in G. H. S. activities, though he has made many friends with his shy but interesting and bantering manner.

ROBERT STANLEY BAKER

"Bob"

"Bob," "the farmer from Guilford," is well known in G. H. S. His voice can be heard booming down the corridors although "Bob" is far from view. Pink slip and shop have been his favorite rendezvous, and he hopes to go back to the farm as soon as school is over.

ABRAHAM NOAH BARGER

"Abe"

President of Pro Merito; Manager of Track (4); Exponent (2, 3, 4, Editor 4); Editor of Year Book Staff (4); Finance Committee of Year Book (4); Dance Committee (4); "Pyramus and Thisbe" (2); "Perfect All" (4); Band (1, 2, 3); Orchestra (3); Dramatic Club (2, 3, 4); Latin Club (3, 4, President 4); Secretary of Debating Club (2); Treasurer of Debating Club (3); President of Debating Club (4); Student Council (3); Silver G (3, 4); Hi-Y (3, 4); Prize Speaking (4); Valedictorian (4); Tennis (4); Interscholastic Debating Team (3); Chairman of Publicity and Finances, Commencement Dance (4).

"Abe," the medical man of the class, has been an active member, and has made many friends during his four years in G. H. S. He is planning to attend Amherst College next year. We hope your future will be as successful as the record you made in G. H. S., "Abe."

SOPHIE JULIA BALUC

"Sonya"

Varsity Basketball (1); Year Book Staff (4); Orchestra (1, 2); Glee Club (1, 2); Commercial Club (3, 4); Dramatic Club (3, 4).

"Sonya" is a smiling young lady who rushes around very busily. Her activities have not been confined only to commercial work, as she is also a member of the Dramatic Club, and was a member of the orchestra in her Freshman and Sophomore years.

GERALDINE VIRGINIA BASSETT

"Gerie"

Exponent (3).

Geraldine is quiet as a mouse but is well liked by all her friends. We haven't been able to find out just exactly what she does in her spare moments, but no doubt she uses them wisely. Lots of luck, Geraldine.

LILLIAN BEATRICE BAUDIN
"Shanghai Lil"

Second Team Basketball (4); Commercial Club (3).

"Lil" is one of our cheer leaders, which is why our cheering is so good. She is very sincere about becoming a police-matron and we know she will make good. Here's hoping.

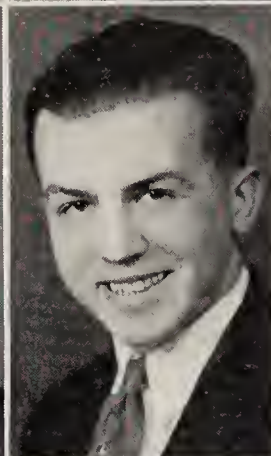

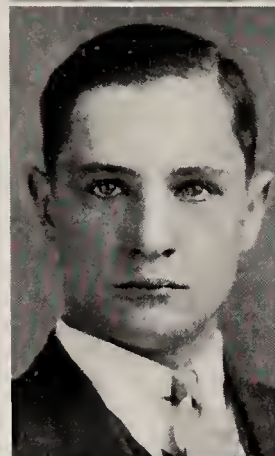

ARTHUR THOMAS BERGERON
"Art"

Second Team Baseball (3); Commercial Club (3).

"Art" is one of those quiet boys who can be depended on to do the right thing at the right time. His tall form is a familiar figure wherever athletics are in progress. He is undecided as to his future, but you may be sure that he will succeed in whatever he attempts.

LANCELOT JAMES BECK
"Si"

Lancelot is one of the Millers Falls boys. No doubt that is why we haven't seen much of him. Whatever his future may be, we hope it will be a successful one.

HAROLD HENRY BITTNER
"Bit"

Soccer (4); Intramural Basketball (3, 4); Stamp Club (3).

Harold is a genial young man who, although he has not figured prominently in the social activities of the high school, is well known and liked by his fellow-classmen. He has decided to let the future take care of itself. Whatever you do, Harold, the good wishes of the school will follow you.

HELEN MARY BECKLO
"Bergie"

Intramurals—"Plugs" (2, 3, 4); Commercial Club (3, 4).

Helen has been very shy. At least she appears so to those who don't know her well, but by her more intimate friends she is well liked. An undecided future awaits her but we wish her luck.

MARION WINIFRED BLAKE
"Mike"

Basketball (2, 3, 4); Field Hockey (3); Archery (2, 3); Alpha Beta Pi (4); Student Council (4).

"Mike" seems to be a demure young lady until you know her better. She is one of our star athletes, a Rock of Gibraltar for the girls' basketball team. She is planning to take a P. G. course next year, and we are sure that her sunny smile and pleasing personality will make her as popular among the underclassmen as she has been with the Seniors.

TEDDY JOHN BEHAYLO
"Butch"

If anyone is looking for Teddy he will find him in his back yard tinkering with an old Ford. May all our cars be masterpieces when he gets into the mechanical world!

PHILIP GEORGE BOURBEAU
"Phil"

Senior Dance Committee; "Belle of Barcelone" (1); "Pinafore" (2); "Pepita" (3); "Trial by Jury" (4); Band (1); Chorus (1, 2, 3); Art Club (Vice-President) (4); Syncopators (4).

We have not seen as much of "Phil" as we should like to, but he has probably seen as much of the school as he wants to—how about it, "Phil"? His fine voice has been a great aid to the musical organizations, and we are grateful to him for his help. Although the crystal has not divulged its secrets to us, we may be sure "Phil's" future will be happy.

MARY AGNES BELLOWES
"Sweetheart" or "Bellows"

Class Basketball (1); Year Book Staff (4); Archery (1); Commercial Club (3, 4); Alpha Beta Pi (3, 4).

Who doesn't know this tall, blonde girl who always has a smile and a witty remark for everyone? Mary has always been one of the popular girls of the Senior class. She hasn't any plans for the future, but we know that she will always find a welcome wherever she goes. Here's luck, Mary.

ELIZABETH ROSENA BRIGGS
"Betty"

Class Basketball (1, 2, 3, 4); Commercial Club (3, 4).

In "Betty's" four years with us she has attained many friends because of her good nature and pleasing personality. She is seen at all dances and social gatherings in school as well as out. "Betty" was active in Class Basketball 3, 4, and Commercial Club 3 and 4. Her plans for the future are in the commercial field. Our good wishes go with you, "Betty."

EARLE LAWRENCE BRITTON
"Larry"

Intramural Basketball.

Earle is known as one of our quiet boys and has made many friends among them, but he seems to be a woman-hater around school. He is continually seen at Shattuck Park playing tennis. In the future he plans to become an architect. May luck be with you always, Earle.

EARLE RAYMOND BROOKS
"Brooksie"

Earle is that curly-headed boy who came to G. H. S. two years ago. He is an accomplished dancer and always furnishes a good time. We hear he likes the fair sex, but we won't tell! Earle's plans for the future are to become a civil engineer. We hope that he will never forget the friends he has made in G. H. S.

EVELYN ELIZABETH BROWN
"Brownie"

Class Basketball (1, 2); Band (1, 2); Exponent (4).

The roguish glint in Evelyn's eyes belies her rather quiet attitude and gives one the impression that there is a "real pal." Evelyn hasn't spent much of her free time in high school activities, but has enjoyed herself fully during her four years here. Her plans for the future are undecided, but whatever she may undertake the best wishes of the class go with her.

JESSIE CECILIA BRZEZINSKI
"Giggles"

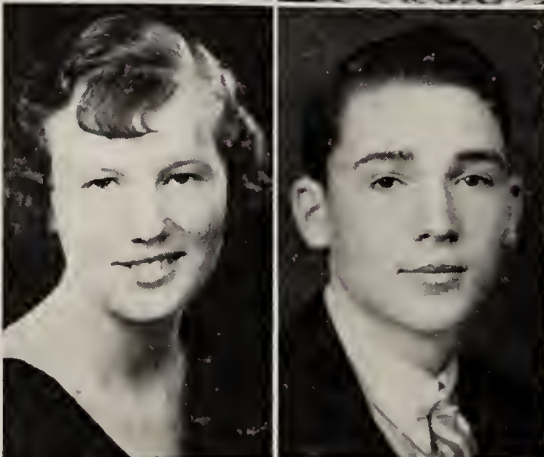

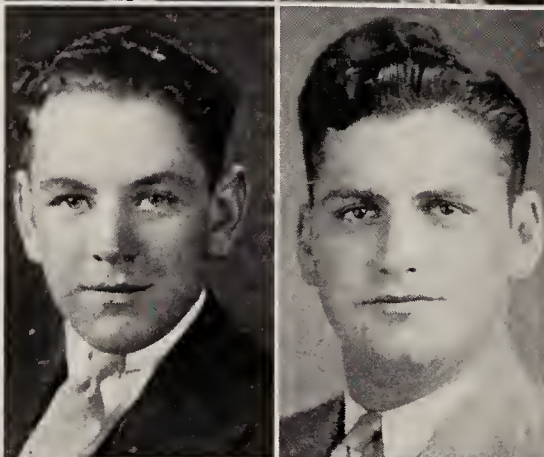

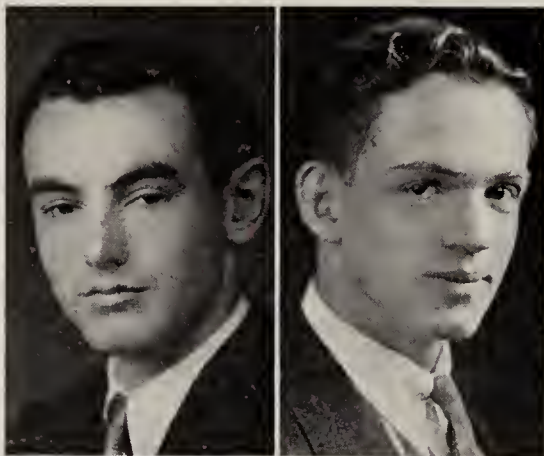

Intramural Basketball (3, 4); Commercial Club (3, 4).

This jovial young Senior is characterized among all the students of G. H. S. by her very good nature, pleasing personality, and ready wit. Jessie has been active in Class Basketball 3, 4 and also the Commercial Club 3, 4. She must have done a great deal of studying as her name has frequently appeared on the Honor Roll. Good luck, Jessie!

JOHN SHEA BULMAN
"Bull"

Year Book Staff (4); Latin Club (3, 4); Silver G (4).

John is that conscientious looking Senior who is always seen walking down the corridors with several books under his arms. Despite his studies he has found time to go hunting and fishing quite a few days and still maintain his high scholastic standing. We shall all miss his clever remarks and thoughtful essays.

DONALD WINSLOW CADIGAN
"Don"

Exponent (3); Year Book Staff (4); Class President (1); Class Vice-President (2); Dance Committee (4); "Pepita" (1); "Miss Cherryblossom" (2); "Chonita" (3); "A Wedding" (3); "Pyramus and Thisbe" (1); "J. Caesar" (2, 3); "Fads and Frills" (3); Chorus (1, 2, 3); Dramatic Club (2, 3, 4, Vice-President 4); Debating Club, Vice-President (3); Science Club (3); Art Club (3); Hi-Y (2, 3, 4, Secretary 4); Student Council (1, 2, 3, 4, President 4).

"Don" is that tall, handsome Senior who is always seen walking down the corridor with a smile on his face. He is one of the most popular students of his class and seems to be the most active. He has taken part in several plays. He has been president of the Student Council, secretary of Hi-Y, and president of his class in the Freshman year. He has a very clever wit and he always makes a hit with the young girls.

JOSEPH CHARLES CAFARELLA
"Joe"

Baseball (1, 2); Track (2); Intramural Basketball (1, 2, 3, 4).

Joseph is a very quiet Senior even though he hails from Millers Falls. He is not seen very much about the school but he is very cheerful. He plays on the varsity squad in baseball. Best of luck, "Joe," from the entire Senior class.

HELEN AMELIA CAREY
"Bunny"

Commercial Club (4).

Helen is that petite Senior who is seen driving a Plymouth car about town. Helen has also found time to take part in social activities outside of school. She is undecided about the future, but the best wishes of the class of '34 go with you, Helen.

PAUL LAWRENCE CARPENTER
"Paulie"

Paul is the silent, shy boy who hails from the Leyden Road every morning. We don't hear very much of Paul around G. H. S., but something in his eye tells us that there is more to Paul than appears on the surface. We are certain that his silent, determined ways will lead him to success in whatever he undertakes.

WILLIAM FRANK CARROLL
"Bill"

Soccer (2).

"Bill" is that fun-loving, red-headed boy in Room 14 (when he is in school). Those who know him say that he is always there with the right bright remark at the right time. We cannot but wonder what it was, or who it was, that kept "Bill" so busy, for he has had little time for school activities.

WILLIAM GERALD CASH
"Bill"

Commercial Club (3, 4, President 3).

"Bill" was the last of the famous "gang" to be left in Greenfield High this year. Afternoons you can see him practicing with his golf sticks, for that is his favorite sport. He is never home evenings, but rather is gaily cavorting on some polished dance floor, for "Bill" is one of our few dancers with a reputation for his dancing.

FELIX JOSEPH CERRATO
"Count"

Year Book Staff (4); Dance Committee (4); Science Club (4); Hi-Y (3, 4); President of Camera Club (3, 4); Secretary of Latin Club (3); Librarian of Band (1, 2, 3, 4); Orchestra Librarian (1, 2, 3, 4); Silver G (3, 4); Stage Manager (4).

Words are powerless to describe Felix's jollity, his smile, and those dark, flashing eyes. Although he was primarily interested in furnishing gum to his friends during the early part of his school career, we have noticed that lately he manages to get that little brown car of his parked in front of the school about 3:30, and that he is always ready to give a lift to Freshmen of the fairer sex.

FRANCES CAROLYN CHAMPION
"Fran"

"Miss Cherry Blossom" (3); Dramatic Club (4); Year Book Staff (4).

This little girl's hobby is parties, and can she throw 'em!! "Fran" "blossomed out" her Junior year and since has been the acknowledged "Society Queen" of G. H. S. She is always ready to help backstage too, and usually has a pretty good idea of Ivan's whereabouts.

EDWARD EMMETT CHAPIN
"Chappy"

Edward is one of the few quiet boys in G. H. S., but we have often wondered if he really is as quiet as he seems. Remember that old saying, "Still water runs deep"? Nevertheless, we wish you smooth sailing over the sea of life in any career you choose, "Chappy."

RONALD HALE CHAPIN
"Pokey"

Hockey (3); Tennis (3, 4); Dance Committee (4); "The Managers" (4); Hi-Y (3, 4); Camera Club (2, 3); Dramatic Club (3, 4); Band (1, 2, 3, 4); Orchestra (1, 2, 3, 4).

"Pokey" is one of the best-natured fellows in our class, and as a result has gained a host of friends. He can always find a partner for tennis or an audience to listen to his music. We know that he will succeed in his chosen work, and our best wishes go with you, "Pokey."

ALICE ETTA CHAPLIN
"Alice"

Alice is one of our more quiet girls. She has not been very active in school, but she has made a host of friends during her school career. Her ambition is to be a hairdresser, and we certainly wish her all kinds of luck.

RUDOLPH FREDERIC CIUDZIK
"Rudy"

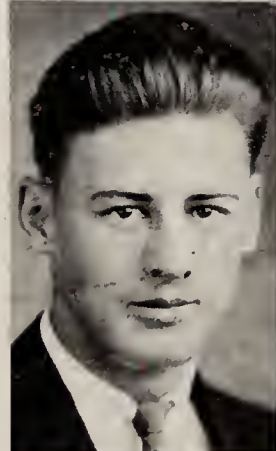

Rudolph is that curly-headed boy from Millers who always has a smile. He may be found anywhere a good orchestra is playing, and we understand he is no mean dancer. He wants to keep his ambition a secret, but no matter what it is he has our best wishes for success.

HORTENSE HARRIET CLEVELAND
"Hortie"

"Chonita" (3); Chorus (1, 3, 4).

"Hortie" is one of the girls who makes our high school days so pleasant. Her contagious giggle and care-free ways will be long remembered by her many friends. Her ambition is to be a nurse, and we wish you lots of luck, "Hortie," in cheering the sick.

ROLAND EDWARD CLOUTIER
"Rollie"

Football (first and second teams, 4); Hockey (first team, 4).

Indulging in almost all high school sports has been the record of "Rollie." In this work he has become very popular with his companions. The best of luck to "Rollie," and may he succeed in his sport ambition.

ELLEN KATHRYN COBB
"Kay"

"Pepita" (1); Glee Club (1, 2, 3, 4); Exponent (3).

Riding in Austin cars has always held a certain fascination for "Kay," who has had that exclusive right for quite a while. Always a good-natured companion, "Kay" has won many friends and we hope success and fortune will ride in her Austin.

MARJORIE ELEANOR COOKE
"Marge"

Exponent and Year Book Staff (4); Chorus (1, 3); "Chonita" (3).

You can find this bashful (?) girl at the Baptist Church almost any Sunday night. We wonder why "Marge" is planning to go to Colby Junior College next year to study dietetics. Well that's her business, anyway, and good luck to her.

ALAN CHARLES DADMUN
"Fuda"

Stamp Club, Vice-President (4).

What will Room 12 do in the years to come without this comedian? Alan always has a cheerful word for everyone, and his care-free disposition provides much humor for the class. Alan is seldom seen without his pal, Bittner, and together they make an amusing team. "Bon voyage, Admiral!"

ALICE SOPHIA COOMBS
"Alice"

Year Book (4).

This pleasing girl has won many friends during her high school career. Always good natured, Alice is sure to succeed in all her future desires. May you obtain your goal in life, and be as successful as you have been in high school.

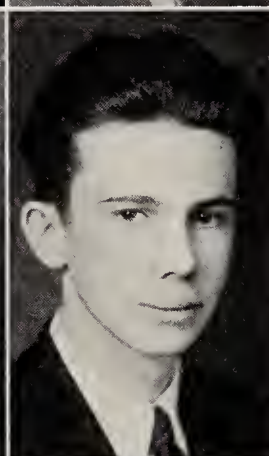

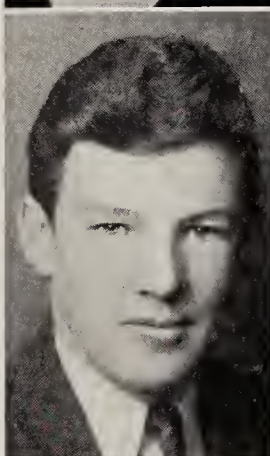

JOHN DALY
"Honest John"

John is one of the quiet members of his class (except in class), but he has proved a true friend to all who know him. He is undecided about his future, but we know he will succeed in whatever he undertakes. The class of '34 extends their best wishes to you, John.

THOMAS FREDERICK COONEY
"Huck"

Soccer (4); Exponent and Year Book (4); Senior Dance Committee (4); Science Club (3, 4); Stamp Club (3); Debating Club (3, 4, Treasurer 3, Vice-President 4); Hi-Y Club (4).

Everyone who has known this good-natured fellow could not help but enjoy his care-free company. Always a willing companion to aid in any task, "Tom" has become one of the most popular boys in the Senior class.

HORACE DWIGHT DANIELS
"Dan"

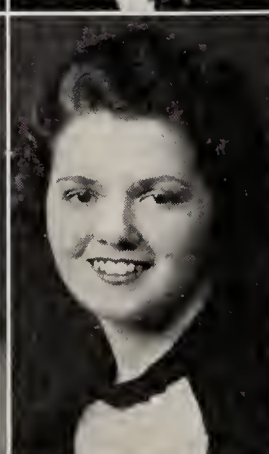

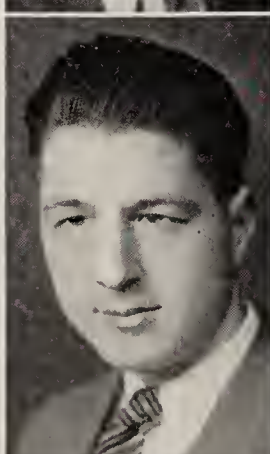

Printers' Guild (4).

Horace is quite frequently seen joy-riding about the town in his little Ford coupé. He has also found a liking for printing, and we know he will be missed by the printing department. Horace plans to join the Navy, and here's wishing success and happiness to him.

JOHN JOSEPH FRANCIS
CORSIGLIA, JR.
"Johnnie"

Band (1, 2, 3, 4); Orchestra (1, 2, 3, 4); Assembly Orchestra (2, 3, 4); Syncopators (2, 3, 4); Science Club (3, 4, Vice-President 4); Silver G (3, 4).

Surely everyone knows "Johnnie," one of the musical boys of the class, who will probably some day take the place of Guy Lombardo. John also devotes his time to radios and science. G. H. S. will miss you in the future, John, but here's good luck to you!

ESTHER DAVENPORT
"Ezzy"

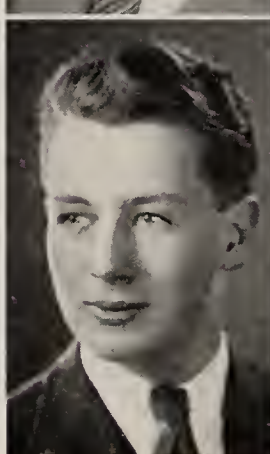

Pro Merito; Commercial Club (3, 4); Syncopators (4).

Esther is the popular piano player of our own Syncopators. She is a very studious girl but is always good natured and smiling and is seldom found when not eating. She intends to take up stenography after graduation, but no matter what she does she is bound to succeed. Good luck, Esther.

IVAN ROPER COUSINS
"Ivan"

"The Perfect Alibi" (4); "Chonita" (3); Hi-Y (2, 3, 4); Band (2, 3, 4); Concert Orchestra (2, 3, 4); Syncopators (2, 3, 4); Assembly Orchestra (4); Art Club (2); Dramatic Club (4).

Ivan came to us in the middle of the Sophomore year from New York and has contributed much to our musical organizations. He has made a great many friends while here, and what would G. H. S. have done without him? Ivan plans to enter college next year. Our best wishes go with him.

HARRY JOHN DAY
"Kid"

Commercial Club (4).

Harry is the quiet, unassuming boy from Montague City Road and although he doesn't say much he has a host of friends who join in wishing him the best of luck. Here's to you, Harry.

ELEANOR CATHERINE DeMEO
"Nina"

Commercial Club (4).

Eleanor is the bashful and shy girl from the commercial department. She is a member of the Senior Commercial Club and has a host of friends. She is one of the best typists in the school and will be sadly missed around Room 40 next year.

MARGARET LOUISE ELMER "Peggy"

Intramural Basketball (1, 2, 3, 4).

"Peggy" is a frequent visitor at the swimming pool and she swims like a fish. "Peggy" just loves being a nursemaid so has decided to go to Boston where she will train to be a nurse or governess to the kiddies.

JAMES REYNOLDS DEVENNEY
"Jim"

Intramural Basketball (3, 4).

James, or "Jim" to you, is one of the most popular boys in school as well as out. He starred in intramural basketball and is also somewhat of a golfer. He is always seen with a pack of books under his arm roaming the corridor. Best wishes, "Jim."

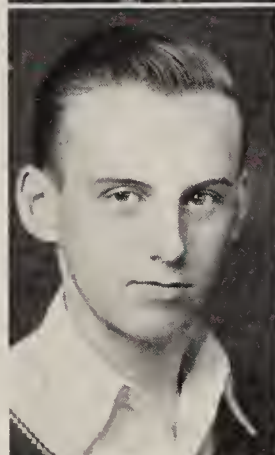

CLARENCE EUGENE ETHIER
"Sammy"

Football, Second Team (2, 3); First Team (4); Basketball, Second Team (3); Baseball, Second Team (2).

"Sammy" is that bashful football player who is afraid of the girls and mice. "Sammy" is one of our most valuable players in both football and baseball. He plays basketball also, but majors in the other sports. Hockey is another sport he loves. "Sammy" wants to be a football coach at some large college. Here's luck to you, "Sammy."

HOWARD ALBERT DUNCAN
"Howie"

"Howie" is Greenfield's future aviation wizard, as he is interested in this field and is always seen studying or practicing some form of it. He is a quiet, modest fellow and we sincerely hope for his success. Lots of luck, "Howie."

LILLIAN CLARA FELLOWS
"Lillian"

Lillian is quiet but noticeable. Her great ambition is to become a multi-millionaire's secretary. You can always see "Lil" on School Street. Here's all G. H. S.'s luck to you and may you make good.

MARIAN ADELIN DUSTIN
"Dusty"

Marian can always be seen getting something to eat out of her locker. Marian deserted us for Lynn in her Sophomore year, but came back to good old G. H. S. the following year and has been with us ever since. Marian is undecided as to what she is going to do after she graduates, but no matter what she does we hope she will keep her chin up.

HARLAND STANLEY FISHER
"Jim"

Hi-Y (4).

"Jimmy" is a reserved chap in school but he is quite different when not there. He seems to be shy, but who knows? He has a Pontiac car, too, girls! When you get to know "Jimmy" you like him. He's that nice.

MARY AGNES DWYER
"Flash"

Intramural Basketball (1, 2, 3, 4); Commercial Club (3).

Mary can be found at most of the dances. She and her brother have arranged some cute steps and try them out at every dance. Here's to the Dwyers, as they want to be night club entertainers.

HELEN CHRISTINA FORRESTALL
"Helen"

Chorus (3, 4); Commercial Club (4).

JOHN JOSEPH YEZ
"Red"

Football (3, 4); Basketball (2, 3, 4); Baseball (1, 2, 3, 4); Student Council (4).

President's Address

PARENTS, TEACHERS, AND FRIENDS:

IT is with great pleasure and pride that I take this opportunity to welcome you today, to our Class Day exercises. For our program we have several students from the class of 1934 who will address you. Some of these have been chosen by their classmates; others, because of their character and willingness to work, have been selected by the faculty. The principal speakers, however, have earned their right to participate by a brilliant display of scholarship.

To my classmates I would like to say: in the years gone by we have formed numerous friendships, some of which have become very dear to us. During our last four years you have honored me several times in your class elections, for which I am very grateful, and it is with much regret that I leave my present office. As we go through life, to whatever Fate holds in store for us, let us try to keep alive the memories of our high school days so that the bond which now holds us together will continue to do so for a number of years to come.

EDWARD FRANCIS LANDRY
President

Salutatory and Essay

Parents, Teachers, and Friends:

IT gives me sincere pleasure, in behalf of the class of 1934, to welcome you to these Class Day exercises. We are exceedingly grateful to you for the help you have given us during our high school days. When difficulties faced us, you were always ready to assist us in overcoming them. Your encouragement and advice were a constant inspiration, instilling within us the desire to progress. Now it is only possible for us to tell you how much we appreciate what you have done; but later we shall endeavor to prove to you that your efforts toward our success were not in vain.

THOUGHTS ON HAPPINESS

What is happiness? There are many well-known quotations which express varied and interesting thoughts upon the subject. A proverb points out an individual's responsibility: "There is an hour wherein a man might be happy all his life, could he find it." One quotation from Ruskin gives us considerable food for thought. He says, "Pleasure comes through toil; when one gets to love his work, his life is a happy one." Southey gives us the thought, "For, as of all the ways of life, but one—the path of duty—leads to happiness." There are several sayings which relate happiness to character: Marcus Aurelius says, "Happiness depends, as Nature shows, less on exterior things than most suppose." Pope contends that "virtue alone is happiness." But Racine has handed down the most precious and unselfish thought of all, "Happiness seems made to be shared."

Any person who shapes his life rightly can find happiness. It is the individual himself who is responsible for his own happiness. Fate and circumstance can be overcome. There are individuals in the world who have experienced so much suffering and sorrow that we wonder how they possibly can find any joy in living. Yet they are often more happy than people to whom fate has been kind.

There are many ways through which happiness may come. Activity, daily work, leisure time, character development, and social work—all produce their share of happiness. Happiness may result from the opportunity and ability to express ourselves in ways which bring us satisfaction. In other words, it may be the result of obeying the creative impulse which is within each and every one of us. Whether we like to paint pictures, write stories, act in plays, or produce music, the fundamental principle is the same—expressing ourselves by creating something. It is possible to change our daily work from dull routine to fascinating experience just by finding interest in it and expressing that interest in a way which brings joy to us. The opportunity to be able to say when we have accomplished something worth while, "I did that," is an experience of happiness.

Since our daily work occupies a certain amount of time, it is important to discover how we can gain the most happiness from it. For those of us who hope to obtain work immediately upon leaving school, the future which is being spoken of is not so far distant. But for those of us who plan to continue our studies for a few years, the future which is referred to is not so close at hand. There are, however, certain fundamental thoughts for all of us to bear in mind. We must, if we can, choose a vocation which will give us the best opportunity to express ourselves. Secondly, we must work hard in our chosen field, for it is laboring hard at something which we like that makes our life happy. Perhaps some of us, especially those of us who expect to work right after graduation, may find it necessary to take any work we can get. What should we as individuals do who are confronted with such a problem? Try to find some little thing about the work which we like and concentrate upon that. It may be very insignificant, but in time it may help us to enjoy our work. Then we can put our best into our daily tasks. It is the man who is happy in his work who finds success.

The matter of how best to spend our leisure time is daily becoming a more serious problem. With the many inventions of the modern age which have rapidly been replacing manual labor, and with the new codes for workers which limit the hours of labor, we find more free time than ever before. Two things may be done with these extra hours. They may be wasted, thus causing crime and despondency, or they may be used to our advantage, thus bringing happiness. In former years many people had little time for hobbies, but now those of us who like variety in life may occupy our leisure time with a number of activities. A hobby is something in which we express ourselves perhaps even more than in our work because we work at our hobbies for the sheer love of what we are doing—not to earn a living or to gain fame. It is easy to illustrate this point with several leisure time activities which may tend to raise the standard of culture, to educate us, and most important of all to give us the opportunity of expressing ourselves. Music is an outlet for our feelings. We can spend all the leisure time we have with music and yet, if that is the best way for us to express ourselves, we will never tire of it. Athletics will help us to keep physically fit. Art has something to show for the labor spent in its production. Dramatics are a fine thing for those of us who like to create the sort of person we think someone else would be. For the people who just overflow with imagination, there are always sympathetic friends who would be glad to read original writings of amateurs. Nature offers fine opportunities for self-expression. We can work in the healthy out-of-doors planting gardens, and soon we have something to show for our toil. There are many other fields of activities which can bring happiness to us in our leisure time.

But I have left until the last what is to me the source of greatest happiness: the kind of happiness which can be found in giving happiness to others. For, the more happiness we give the more we have for ourselves. A smile, the symbol of happiness, causes others to smile and puts a feeling of joy into the heart of the person who first smiled. Social work is a service which directly helps other people. In this kind of work we can lead others in finding ways of expressing themselves and the means to achieve that expression. There is no such thing as sacrifice in the minds of people who give up all to enter the service of mankind, for they are amply repaid by the happiness which they gain.

It is most important that we do not go out into life with the express purpose of finding happiness, for that is the surest way not to find it. Happiness is the by-product of living a full life—one which will influence for the better other lives with which it comes in contact. Everything that we do affects more lives than our own, which is a very important reason that from early youth we should do our part in making the world a better place in which to live. We should strive to develop the kind of character which will bring happiness to others. Happiness is found by creating for others and for ourselves the ideals and standards which will leave the world a better place than it was left to us.

MARGARET ADELAIDE LAWRENCE

The Value of Education

EDUCATION is the acquisition of book knowledge and social training which further the happiness, efficiency, and capacity for service of the educated." A person is considered educated not only because of his book knowledge, experience, and ability to make a living, but because of his ability to enjoy the less intellectual things in life. It prepares a person to make a success of whatever he undertakes, in that it teaches him to make wise decisions. It enables him to appreciate good art, music, literature, as well as to enjoy games, sports, and movies, which are not especially intellectual.

The so-called "fads and frills" which are taught in the schools consist of music, art, printing, sewing, wood-working, vocational training, physical training, etc. Many people disapprove of these. "But it is these," says Rollo G. Reynolds, Principal of the Horace Mann School, "which are the best incentives to fine and constructive interests. The generation now in school can be led to use their leisure time which will come, in the arts, music, creative construction, wholesome play and recreation, and fine appreciation, or it can use these hours for harmful, useless, or degrading activities."

There are two elements which contribute to one's success. One is proper education and the ability to learn processes which enable us to use our experiences to the best advantage; the other, perseverance. To make the learning process more efficient, modern educators are placing more and more emphasis upon the use of visual education. By visual instruction is meant a device such as motion pictures, lantern slides, or exhibits, which functions through the sense of sight, aiding the teacher in the presentation of textbook material.

The trying times we have experienced during the past five years have taught us the real value of education. In industry, in the commercial field, and in professional life, many persons have been defeated because of lack of enough vocational training and a background of "fads and frills."

In industry, education has become more essential than ever, not only because of the great number of persons applying for the few positions available, but because industry provides the earning power for the millions of working people; and it is necessary that the persons employed have sufficient education and experience to make good merchandise, which is conducive to successful business.

In the commercial field, we are well aware of the difficulties thousands of merchants have been forced to endure because they lacked experience and the knowledge necessary to carry on a paying proposition. Only organizations with leaders well trained in their respective businesses succeed.

Among our professional men and women we find groups of individuals who are the most successful and outstanding in their communities. Many of the renowned men and women have been able to attend college. Some of them have not. But, they have attained the goal they set out for, by learning from experience. Let us look into the life of Frances Perkins, Secretary of Labor. She attended Mount Holyoke College, the University of Pennsylvania, and Columbia University. After completing her college education, she first got experience in small positions, then in larger ones. Today she is one of the outstanding women in our country. Among her first responsible positions were: lecturer in Adelphi College, executive secretary of the Committee on Safety in New York, direct investigator of the New York State Factory Commission, member of the Direct Council on Immigrant Education in New York, Child Labor Committee, and National Fire Protection Association.

The greatest organization in the world today is the United States Government. Imagine the great wealth of education the men and women making up that government possess. Our President, Franklin Delano Roosevelt, attended Groton School, Harvard University, and Columbia Law School; Vice-president Garner, although he could attend Vanderbilt University for only one year, went into law offices to gather the knowledge and experience he could not get at a school. He did so well that at the age of twenty-two he was admitted to the bar.

Imagine the responsibility that rests on each of these individuals, and all officials and heads of departments. We look to them to bring us out of these present hours of national disorder. Why? Because we know that they have had intensive training in their respective fields, and that they also are acquainted with other branches related to their own.

Because we are getting our diplomas does not mean that we have completed our education. Far from it. We live to learn. Those who can go to college have the advantage of a better formal education. Those of us who cannot, must learn a lot from experience, and by studying wherever and whatever we can. There are instructive books and magazines published which are available, and from which we could learn a great deal; we come in contact with educated people—if we keep our eyes and ears open, we can gain much associating with them. We must have the ambition to go after education, good positions, and ultimate high goals, and the perseverance to stay at it until we reach our desired place.

Twenty-two thousand, nine hundred and sixty-six out of the twenty-six thousand, nine hundred and ninety-one who are in "Who's Who in America" attended college—85%. Four thousand, twenty-five who are in "Who's Who in America" did not attend college. The latter educated themselves in one way or another. The people in both classes went after what they wanted, and did not stop even when they got it.

With a college education we have more book knowledge and social training, which tend to make us more efficient, and happier. Without a college education we must strive to make up these deficiencies, to a certain extent, by employing all methods to learn at all times. In both instances we must have perseverance and ambition to make successes of our lives.

A Challenge to Youth

THE Youth of Today is the Man of Tomorrow" is an old adage familiar to all of us. Yet, how little we who are the Youth of Today realize its full meaning! It is customary to expect that each generation ought to contribute more advancement than was known in the preceding era. Also, with the advantages which have been placed before us young people, it is only fitting that much should be expected of us.

When we dwell upon this subject, the question is sure to arise, "How well prepared are we for the responsibilities and advancements which await us in future years?" To be sure, there are several angles to the question.

In several branches of life we have learned that successful people have borrowed others' thoughts or methods.

Lincoln is one of our best illustrations of those youths who employed others' ideas in order to develop their own minds. Although Lincoln did not need long to appropriate the knowledge of the men he studied, he was greatly aided by studying the processes they had used. How well repaid he was for the time he had spent studying books by flickering log fires!

Also we find Youth has borrowed the methods of some one else in his preparation for life. Writers study their predecessors and try to improve upon their styles; artists do likewise. Milton, probably the greatest of the classical writers, spent so many of his early years in study that finally his eyesight was affected. This man, who spent so much of his life in studying Spenser and Shakespeare, was finally able to enrich the literary world with his works, and, since Dante, there had been no such approach to the ideal epic writer of humanity. Likewise, John Singer Sargent, one of our greatest artists, attained his success in the same manner. As a youth he had studied old masters, yet, before his forty-fifth birthday, he had the distinction of being awarded the highest honors at two expositions in Paris.

Thus, it would be well for all of us, the Youth of Today, to use always freely our opportunities to study about great men just to learn of their methods. Also at the same time we may be preparing ourselves for the future by profiting by their examples of determination and ambition.

Education is a great deal more widespread now than it was a few years ago. Although this is a sign of advancement, it also means that it is more difficult for Youth to attain individual success. However, knowledge is power, and knowledge has been developed only by using perseverance and by building higher on what has already been partially achieved.

We may well realize the importance of this when we consider radio. Marconi patented his first practical wireless telegraphy equipment a scant thirty-four years ago. However, it was not until fourteen years ago that the radio, as we are acquainted with it, came into use. Although this field of science has progressed in leaps and bounds, no man alive can yet explain its theory without supplying a great deal from imagination. This is one more activity open for further exploration by younger people.

The same is true with every vocation. Civilization would not have advanced as far as it has, had not the workers in the various occupations taken a constructive part in the development of their industries.

From the standpoint of Youth's present appreciation of beauty and truth as a preparation for life, we might well dwell upon common topics of the day—music, art, and literature. As with past generations, we are now living, confined to our own present life, amid trifling fads which will soon fade away. This present era may be considered by some as an age of jazz, nonsense poetry, and modernistic painting. May we help bring about a more stable advancement in these arts; or, as John Gould Fletcher, a modern American poet, has written,

"For the axe is laid at the root of the trees, and all that bring not forth good fruit
Shall be cut down on the day to come and cast into fire."

Thus, as the Youth of Today, we undoubtedly have before us a future of far greater possibilities than ever before experienced, if we but make use of the innumerable opportunities open to us. Moreover, our greatest asset is the privilege to gather from the unlimited sources of intellectual influence knowledge to apply to the problems of life.

Therefore, before we put on the "toga virilis" as a reward of the higher responsibilities which await Youth, some of us may have climbed the hill of learning by "the right path of a virtuous and noble education," as Milton expressed it. However, these privileges cease to be of any benefit to us if we do not establish and abide by our own standards of advancement and appreciation.

Class Song

"True bonds of friendship
Last evermore";
This is the motto
Of '34.
And when life's mem'ries
Draw near and far,
We will remember
Our classmates as they are.

Loyalty, Honor,
Scholarship too;
These thoughts we'll cherish
All our life through.
As through life's pathways
Each of us strays,
We still will carry
Mem'ries of these days.

Now as we sing you,
Our tribute true,
Friends that we've made here,
Both old and new,
Join hands to wish thee
Happiness true,
Dear ALMA MATER,
We sincerely do.

Class History

Time: 1980

Place: Private study

Characters: Historian, Phillip Bourbeau, and his Secretary, Ruth Smith

Curtain rises to show the interior of the private study of the venerable Professor Bourbeau, author and compiler of "The History and Habits of the Ringed-tail Wampus," now doing research work in preparation for his next volume, "The History of the Class of '34." The professor is seated at his desk completely surrounded by "dog-eared" volumes containing the much-talked-about pasts of the notables of the class.

Enter breezily the Secretary, carrying notebook and pencil.

SEC.: Good morning, Professor! How's the gout?

PROF.: Urump! Urump!

SEC.: What's all this for? A new book?

PROF.: Yes! We are starting work on "The History of the Class of '34."

SEC.: The Class of '34? Why, that was my grandmother's class!

PROF.: Your grandmother? Don't tell me you are the grandchild of one of my classmates. What was her name?

SEC.: Ruth Smith!

PROF.: Not "Ruthie" Smith. Well! Well! Well!

SEC.: I can be of great assistance as Gram and Gramp Maloy are always talking about old times. Such times!

PROF.: Would you mind doing a little night work? I'm anxious to get things under way.

SEC.: (slightly startled, but willing) Why, Professor!

PROF.: Nuff said! Let's get to work! We will start with the class officers for the Freshman year.

SEC.: Oh, Professor, I know who they were. "Don" Cadigan was president; Walter Harris and "Bee" Hunt, vice-presidents; Mildred Mayberry, secretary; "Ed" Landry, treasurer.

PROF.: So much for that! Let me see. I have hazy recollections of a county fair where the high schools of Franklin County participated in a track meet and cheering competition.

SEC.: (taking book from desk) It says here Walter Harris distinguished himself in the track events.

PROF.: Speaking of Harrises, "Bob" made the first team in basketball and football his first year and was a member of them both for his entire four years.

SEC.: (still quoting book) The annual Freshman hop—what's a "Hop," Professor? Who won it?

PROF.: My dear young lady, the "Hop" was the party given as a welcoming reception to the Freshmen by their condescending upperclassmen, the Sophomores. How well I remember Margaret McHugh and her girl friend, "Umpty Dumpsy" Maley, toddling to the sweet and low-down tunes rendered by "Phil" O'Hara and his agony boys at this occasion.

SEC.: (taking an old EXPONENT) There were many notables-to-be in the crowd. Outstanding among the stag girls was "Kay" Cobb. I've heard "Gram" speak of her, but she always mentions a "Norman." Maybe he came along later in her life.

PROF.: It was at that event also that our highty-flighty president, "Don" Cadigan, and our "Beau Brummel," "Bob" Hall, escorted their lady loves to and from the affair under the able chaperonage of their respective parents. How they have changed—in some ways!

SEC.: "Gram" often speaks of "Peggy" Viens. She was drum major of the band. Wasn't she?

PROF.: At the beginning of the following year we asserted our superiority as Sophomores by electing class officers of note and giving the most successful "Hop" on record.

SEC.: I still don't know who won the last one.

PROF.: Try to find some data concerning the school song.

SEC.: Here it is, Professor. One line of the school song was changed in accordance with the change of school colors to green and white.

PROF.: Let me tell you of the "Perfect Crime" that was committed that year. Seventy-five dollars was stolen from the school office, and there could be located no trace of either the culprits or the missing money.

SEC.: Spring, closely followed by promotion to Juniors, arrived.

PROF.: You took the words right out of my mouth. As I remember, there were quite a few promising athletes in our class. Can you find something concerning the "Ump" and his charges?

SEC.: "Johnnie" Yez, "Bob" Harris, Walter Harris, "Red" Siswick, Leo Koch and "Herb" Phillips proved their worth to their class by their prowess on the gridiron.

PROF.: That reminds me. The members of the band got their new uniforms that fall and made a fine-looking group.

SEC.: I have seen Ivan Cousins' name in this volume quite often. Who was he?

PROF.: Oh! She, I mean he, was very musical. She, er, er, a—he also had the "lead" in the operetta, "Chonita."

SEC.: Landry seems to have been an up and coming youngster in school activities, but what's the real gossip?

PROF.: He was disillusioned early in his Junior year by the "fickleness" of his lady love, "Gin" Whelton. While he walked out the front door after spending an enjoyable evening, "Chip Chop," about whom we shall hear later, walked in the back. That was a great event for the "wags" of the school. They joked about that for weeks.

SEC.: Oh, Prof.! Tell me some more scandal about the fellows and girls in your class.

PROF.: My dear young lady, we're supposed to be working, but I might take a little time off to tell you of some of the less serious moments in G. H. S.

SEC.: That's fine, Professor. Now, who was "Chip Chop"?

PROF.: Oh! he was just a gigolo.

SEC.: Here's an old EXPONENT. Who were all these people?

PROF.: Read them to me, and I'll try to enlighten you.

SEC.: Paul Keating, "WaWa" Hurlburt, June Streeter, Phloise Webster, "Polly" Reilly, "Ken" Smith, "Ruthie" Tinkham and "Ruthie" Hosmer.

PROF.: Paul Keating, you mean S. E. (Social Error)? Oh, he was terribly afflicted with a misplaced eyebrow which he never grew out, I mean outgrew. "WaWa" Hurlburt, alias the "Snake," was usually to be found in "Bob" Hall's rumble-seat winding his coils around some here-to-fore innocent "Freshie" or "Soph." Juniors and Seniors knew better. June Streeter, she must be grown up by this time. In our time, although she never had paralysis, she was infantile. Phloise Webster always wore a mask of innocence, but no one took any stock in it. "Polly" Reilly had the reputation of being "snooty," but she was really only groping for light. "Ken" Smith was a big help in History and "Math" to your grandmother and me. If you don't believe me, just ask me. "Ruthie" Tinkham was the one in whom still water ran deep, even if it was murky in places. "Ruthie" Hosmer had a grand sense of humor. I often wondered if her art teacher appreciated it.

SEC.: Personalities all of them. But this really couldn't be used for copy as a textbook.

PROF.: Hardly so! We'll stick to facts.

SEC.: Here are the class officers for the Senior year: "Ed" Landry, president; "Ruthie" Smith and Harvey Kramer, vice-presidents; "Ruthie" Hosmer, secretary; "Kid" Hurlburt, treasurer. "Ed" Landry was also president of Hi-Y and "Don" Cadigan, of Student Council. Margaret McHugh and "Abie" Barger were editors of the EXPONENT.

PROF.: Seems to me we gave a very good Senior Play that year. What's the data?

SEC.: This chapter speaks of the unknown talent discovered in the person of Lucy Stetson, who walked away with the honors of the play "The Perfect Alibi." Harvey Kramer, as the hero, gave a splendid performance as did the rest of the cast. Others taking part were "Don" Cadigan, "Abie" Barger, Margaret Lawrence, Herman Kramer, John McMahon, "Frannie" Tolman, "Peg" Viens, Howard Murphy and "Ivy" Cousins.

PROF.: I remember Greenfield was defeated by Turners in the Thanksgiving game. However, this did not dampen the spirits of the students and players at the Football Dance.

SEC.: According to my grandmother, you did a lot of callooping, I mean dancing.

PROF.: Why, yes, we gave the Christmas Cabaret, and innumerable tea-dances. By the way, the Cabaret was a financial failure to the extent of forty cents; the tea-dances, however, proved successful and made possible our "Year Book."

SEC.: Who frequented these "T" dances besides all the underclassmen?

PROF.: Mary Dwyer, the best girl dancer of the class; "Bob" Hall; Harvey (did he look nice doing those tango split acts!) Kramer; "Vernie" Wissman, who was the cause of all the cases of "palpitating heart" among the fairer sex of G. H. S., usually attended, and, as you said, many Freshmen.

SEC.: Well, Prof., you had plenty of excitement in your day. Didn't you?

PROF.: We surely did, and I think that if we could round up all of the old class that they would be in favor of giving a rousing cheer for G. H. S. and especially for the Class of '34.

The Prophecy of the Class of 1934

Darkness—"The Hymn of the Jungle"—written by The Great Mystic Song Writer of the day (or night, for that matter), "Mope" Landry.

(Enter two Archaeologists, Trader Horn and Trader Shoes of the Shoe-Horn Trading Co., very weary after a day's work excavating the ruins of Greenfield High.)

Place—Central Bologna.

Time—Any night 'cept Saturday.

TRADER HORN: For years and years we have searched for the ruins of our dear old school, and now we have found them. Among the records discovered, our old pal, Harvey Kramer, Adonis of the Class of '34, is written down as a great philanthropist, giving away dimes to his own children, while his friend, A. Barger, following his own footsteps, is still showing that remarkable ability to run a school by being Principal of a great New York State Institution, and by occupying the chair of electricity at Sing-Sing.

TRADER SHOES: Here's something that was dug up yesterday (holding up poster), "Connie" Lothrop and her "Hinkey-Dinkey-Doo" Minstrel Show, who gave their Prime performance at Howard Murphy's theatre, "The Old Howard." In "Connie's" show were Avis Geneva Moore, Elizabeth Mayer, Charlotte McDonald, Stella and Helen Pulaski, Eleanor Sears, Doris Richason, Marion Smith, and Virginia Pond.

TRADER HORN: You haven't found anything yet! Listen to my haul. Ivan Roper Cousins became a playboy cowboy. Stanley Bernard Bannach, Stephania Mary Bannach, and Waslaw Joseph Bannach—all Bannached together to save their country from the Reds. Harland Fisher was chief mechanic of the Screwmore Machine Company. He had an able corps of assistants, Edward Godleski, Clinton Eleazer Gray, and Howard Duncan. All of these fellows made tools for "Phil" Bourbeau, who sold artificial hardware at genuine prices.

TRADER SHOES: I also found evidence to the effect that "Ed" Maley was a Kruschen Salts salesman, who wouldn't take the salts himself because he wanted to show people how they would look if they didn't take them. Somewhere I found that Harriette Macaulay was the world's leading woman novelist, who wrote the thrilling story, "Ten Nights with Herman Kramer." This story was censored by The Ladies' Afternoon Solitaire Club, whose President was Margaret Lawrence; Vice-President, Helen Becklo; Secretary, Mary Hoit; Treasurer, Newell Mixer Kendrick.

TRADER HORN: When we uncovered Beacon Field (there was no cover charge) we found the bones of Alphonso McCain and Walter Harris, interlocked. (They must have been wrestling.) "Bob" Harris was owner of a wandering Minstrel Show which wandered from one jail to another. Oh, yes, I gather that "Ronny" Chapin and his High Flutin' "Chip-Chops,"—Alan Dadmun, Esther Davenport, "Webfeet" Judd, John Julien, and Vernon Leach—put on a regular performance at "Mud" Ayer's "Nite-Club." "Mud's" hostesses were Ellen Kathryn Cobb, Geraldine Bassett, and Emily Gallotto.

TRADER SHOES: "Joe" Lucas must have been a pretty important man. He was President of the United States Toothpick Company with such noble toothpickers as "Bill" McCarthy, Chief-picker of the left hind molar; Stanley Moore, picker of the third bicuspid, and Helena Navicky, the little girl who picked a person's Sweet Tooth. "Nelly" used to chum around with Eleanor Lucier, great radio Blues Singer, whose address was 53 Boulevard of Broken Dreams. We found "Joe" Stebbins' collection of "Baby" pictures. It is said that he amassed the biggest collection in the world.

TRADER HORN: All of your chatter reminds me that Jacob Steinmacher was the finest brew-master that ever dumped a yeast cake into a can of malt. Harold Bittner, John Bulman, and George Kiefer served a lifetime as human ventilators in the Empire State Building. "Bob" Hall married the tattooed lady in a circus so that he could have a moving picture show anytime he wanted. The President of the Utopia Railroad, "Joe" Cafarella, had the following: Lancelot Beck, Teddy Behaylo, Harold Gardner, Bernard Harris, and Stanley Lopatka, as rail viewers. Remember when we discovered Robert Baker's farm? It seems he married and retired to Guilford, Vt., to raise pigs.

TRADER SHOES: Oh, yes, we even saw some of the pigs.

Yesterday my men came across the remains of Donald Severance's radio station, FOHA (Full of Hot Air) over which were heard many artists. Lois Roberts talked on "Football, a Gentle Game." Virginia Sander-son told how to watch out for that future figure. This broadcasting company also had a novelty orchestra. Playing the bass viol was William Sander. (His playing was 10% base and 90% vile.) Andrew Seremeth played the Jew's Harp and the Irish Potato, Martha Schmidt was the Lady who "played her mandolin," while "Franny" Tolman just played around. The leader of the Orchestra was Monseigneur Basil Palmer Thayer, who claimed that his Orchestra was all Classics (1% Class and 99% Hicks).

TRADER HORN: Charlotte Abrahamson was famous for her yodeling in "King Bacchus Xvlcc." John Joseph Francis Corsiglia, Junior, as a result of one of his famous experiments, got plastered (all over the ceiling). Felix Cerrato owned a gas station. He had Burton Holden, Harry Day, "Fred" Hobson, and Alex Litskoski for pumpers. Edward Chapin, Earle Britton and "Bill" Cash were dumb-waiters at Horace Daniels' restaurant. Mary Dwyer used to dance every time she got a mosquito bite. Frances Carolyn Champion was occupied in taking society women's dogs out for a walk to the tune of "Walking My Baby Back Home."

TRADER SHOES: I came across some literature and pamphlets of Kenneth Smith. It seems that he was a salesman for Baby Talcum Powder and blushed every time he tried to explain how to use it. They used to have a professional hockey team around here too. 'Yick' Newton was the Captain, and on the team were Dwight Mudry, Frank Musiak, and Kenneth Rawson. You know, when I first picked up this little piece of gold, I didn't know what it was for, but I later discovered that it was once owned by Marguerite O'Brien, who was a professional "Will-Breaker." Marguerite used to say, "Thar's gold in them thar wills."

TRADER HORN: I understand that Annie Aukstoulis used to run a hairdressing shop, and Earle Brooks was her advertising agent, and Agnes Hamilton and Ruth Hosmer were masseuses. John Daly was a regular customer along with Roland Cloutier and Arthur Bergeron. Alice Coombs made money manufacturing combs. She used to have the motto, "Coomb's combs comb Coombs." "Betty" Briggs married and settled down in an armchair. We dug up the medals that "Tom" Cooney won as a marathon runner, and along with it was information telling how William Carroll was a guide through forested areas of Rocky Mountain.

TRADER SHOES: Your mention of the hairdresser reminds me of another who did the same thing. You know, "Fran" O'Neil made herself famous as the first woman barber who advocated "jackass" haircuts for women, and Marjorie Pepper was the first woman to get one. Here is the program for the Ruth Winifred Smith Ballet, the Ballet Hoo. Ruth did interpretive dances that could be interpreted in several different ways. She also had "Lou" Stetson who tripped the light fantastic and interpreted May evening, and Marion Blake who tripped the dark fantastic and interpreted August afternoon, and June Streeter who tripped on a rug and interpreted spring morn.

TRADER HORN: They still had trouble with Big Business in those days. Hortense Cleveland, Marjorie Cooke, Margaret Elmer, Phyllis Gilman and Margaret Johnson formed the Beef Trust. Evelyn Brown became a six-day bicycle rider, and Jessie Brzezinski, Mary Bellows and Sophie Baluc spent their lives advertising facial creams. (They curdled most of them.) Rudolph Chudzik and Paul Carpenter were great campers and used to spend the whole summer in their own back yard. The excavators uncovered these golf sticks which used to belong to John Griffin, James Deveney, "Fred" and John King, and "Tom" Moore.

TRADER SHOES: Yes, we know pretty nearly what happened to all of the Class of '34. Don't we? Shortell was the sponsor of a radio program with "Gaga" Niles, the second Joe Penner. His program advertised "Ed's" business, making beer chasers. "Ed" had in his employ such noble beer chasers as "Dave" Harlow, "Al" Pearce, and "Steve" Stasinopoulos who was chief bender of pretzels. Henry Sargent, V.O.L.T., and Henry Wing, O.H.M. were hired to put this radio program on the air. I was interested to learn that Margaret McHugh became a feminine Walter Winchell and could be seen peeking into keyholes at any hour of the night.

TRADER HORN: Do you remember Lillian Baudin? Well, she was celebrated as the girl who put the "Broad" in Broadway, and Alice Chapman and Helen Carey wrote Fairy Tales. Mary Gray grew up and wrote editorials and used to skip into the movies as easily as she used to skip out of school. Eleanor De-Meo and Marion Dustin wrote a book on riddles and then went crazy because they couldn't solve them. Lillian Fellows and Clarence Ethier, a nice pair, passed time away playing checkers. "Bob" Jarvis became assistant to his chemistry teacher. Paul Keating finally succeeded in growing a ten-foot mustache. Agnes Karmilowicz and Elsie Kazakeiwich became interpreters in seven different languages.

TRADER SHOES: It was discovered that John McMahon liked his part in the Senior play so well that he moved to England and became a gentleman of leisure (90% leisure and 10% gentleman), and Harry Metaxas wrote a thesis (to settle room 14 arguments) on "What Value Greece Was to the World." Ruth Meyers answered Harry's work with a similar piece entitled, "We Use Grease for Automobiles and Frying Pans." Edward Martel became a second George Raft and starred in the Paramount Picture "BOLONEY." The most interesting remains yet discovered were those of "Rolly" Widener's Chicken and Duck Farm. He had, as helpers, Officer-who-wakes-chickens-up, "Bob" Woodward; Prime Chickener, Paul Thayer; Earle Page, Prime Ducker; and Vernon Wissman, Prime Gooser.

TRADER HORN: Charles Fortin and Edward Frost were a couple of big Butter and Yegg Men. Ruth Gregory and Jennie Gutkowski owned a hat shop together. Their motto was "Here's your hat. What's your hurry?" Their dummies to put hats on were Alice Jolley, Marguerite Jensen, Dorothy Holmes and Geraldine Harris. Pearl Gendler was so bright that she went around giving ideas to school prophets all over the country. The chief airplane designers of the age were Charles Jones and Ralph Hammond. Frank King owned a theatre, with Leo Koch, Peter Kuchieski and Chester Koblinski as bouncers.

TRADER SHOES: Alice Weissenborn opened a flower shop, with Ardell Whitcomb, Helen Wisnewski, Madeline Woodard and Dorothy Wright. And "Everybody's Anna," Hannah Toomey, became the chief exponent of the saying, "Hear Hard Hearted Hannah Blow!" Marguerite Viens with her pals, Phloise Webster and Gladys Spear, were the second "Pickens Sisters." Take your pick. Richard Vincent got the contract to blow his tuba in New York streets in order to drown out undesirable noises. I thought I'd laugh when I learned that "Yez" became America's most popular sportsman and organized his own Parlor Rugby Team. He had Karl Vielmetti, quarterback; "Charlie" Tuvek, halfback; Ernest Thompson, fullback; and Fred Webb, all back. ("Red" was way back.)

TRADER HORN: Helen Forrestall and Estelle Foster were dress-designers. Kermit Hoar finally learned to drive and became a professional auto racer. I see Evelyn Hertsch played the lead in "Sophisticated Lady," while Marguerite and William Grant played the major and minor parts respectfully. The great Russian dancer, Anabel Marie Cathryn Koshinski, had Dorothy Koehler for a manager. Walter Krol always thought that the only reason a train whistled at a crossing was to keep up its nerve, while "Russ" Lilly claimed that having "bats in the belfry" was worse than having the wolf at the door.

TRADER SHOES: It was funny to think of Paul Putnam as leader of the League for Artists' Models with the following models: 1934 Model V8, Concettina Siano; 1931 Model V16, Barbara McCaffery; 1932 Model Straight 8, Josephine Smiertka; and 1934 Model Austin, Phyllis Streeter. I'd like to have seen Dorothy Thurlow's Medical Clinic with Dr. "Joe" Ostroski, specialist of the left big toe; Mary Volpi, who was always on night duty; Eileen Varilly, the dietitian who tried to put the Beef Trust on a vegetable diet; Walter Sokoloski, elevator boy; and Dr. Henry Tusinski, who always said to a patient before entering the operation room, "I'll see you inside." This city also had many women officers. There were the city dog catcher, Marion Luippold; Fence Viewer, Pauline Podlesny; "Tacks" Collector, Marjorie Stafford; and Helen Stachelek, chairman of the committee for knock-kneed giraffes.

TRADER HORN: During the big flood, when Bessie Leslie and Antoinette Lapointe were living together, Antoinette tried to rescue herself by floating down the river on the bed, and Bessie accompanied her on the piano. Frank Luddington was the major of the Flit Army. Viola Stone ran a beauty salon with Mary Trycinski, Antonina Yourga and Josephine Zlobl as assistants. Edna White was Principal of the Gill Abnormal School with the following Subnormal pupils: James Siano, who admired Washington's memory, because there were so many monuments erected to it; "Dick" Sibley, who claimed that Anatomy was the study of the Heavenly Bodies; "Ray" Parten-heimer who wrote, "The most important bill passed by our Congress was the Buffalo Bill"; Annie Pyott, who said that trousers was an uncommon noun, because it was singular at the top and plural at the bottom; Wanda Szulborski, who graduated highest in her class (she was in a class by herself); and Rhea Tatro, who was permitted to become the guardian of the water fountain.

TRADER SHOES: Oh, my, and I see that Howard Robbins was the head of a great publishing company, and his chief assistant was Randolph Suhl. They published articles by "Fred" Peck and "Bert" Phillips; also Ruth Tinkham's great book "When You Get Dishpan Hands, Housemaid's Knee and Athlete's Foot, I'll Love You Just the Same." Later Roland Siswick was able to win the marble championship at Atlantic City. He became lost and no one heard anything of him. Did you know that Gladys Wonsey ran an art school and had under her supervision the following artists: Herman Parrott, Helen Moylan, Mary Muka, Stella Slahetka? I hear that Walter Smith became chauffeur for a certain popular hairdresser and her friends. Arthur Stark finally worked himself up to where he owned the First National Stores and then found that he was worse off than before. Eugene Togneri became a great sculptor and carved mustaches on all the billboards in the country.

TRADER HORN: Peter Maniatty and Carl Podlesny decided to break up their partnership because they got tired of dividing nothing into two every Saturday night. Pauline Reilly went to Keene and was the head hostess in the Stanford Night Club. Barbara Phillips was the head of the National Federation of Women's Clubs, who believed not only in Clubs for women, but in bricks, rocks, in fact anything that came handy. Helen MacRae, a hostess of note, was Athletic Trainer at Mount Hermon. Did you hear that Angeline Marini kept going to her dentist until she could advertise a different tooth paste on each tooth? Florence Porey and Robert Shulman went on the road with a vaudeville show, and chairs were broken, because the audience rushed so (in the other direction).

TRADER SHOES: Well, that certainly was a noble class. We must retire so that we can get to work early tomorrow. I want to dig up memories of our faculty.

Ivy Song

As we plant thee here, O Ivy!
From within our mem'ries spring,
Thoughts of sadness, thoughts of gladness,
That the dear, dead days did bring,
With the ways of life before us,
And life's barren wall to climb,
You will always be our emblem,
Leading us to deeds sublime.

Keeping Faith

ALTHOUGH in twenty-one forlorn years there had been no result for his faithful efforts, Howard Robinson continued to doctor his sightless eyes three times a day in the dogmatic affiance that he might cure his blindness. Day after day he persevered as he groped around in a darkened world. His fortitude was amazing! His faith, based upon medical science, was a tribute to that profession. One night, however, while listening to the radio, he began to see light. Dumb-founded, he turned to his wife whom he had not seen for twenty-one years, and lo, he could see her! His faith had won him ample reward.

How many of us would have clung to this conviction while dwelling in a Stygian darkness for twenty-one years? Many a man would have accepted the affliction as Fate and lived in the past, a gloomy dweller of a hypochondriacal mind.

Nevertheless, Howard Robinson was able not only to overcome his misfortune, not only to regain his place in the world of today and tomorrow, not only to be a tribute to medicine, but also to be a living memorial to faith.

We have yet to realize what it means to break away from our homes and all that is dear to us in order that we may succeed. But we carry along the thought that we may return and renew the life we are leaving. However, this was not the case of Doctor Grenfell. When he was still a young man, with a brilliant career before him, he consecrated his life to humanity in the hope that he might better the lives of the poor in the frigid wastes of Labrador. Through happiness and misery, prosperity and depression, he has carried his aid into a remote quarter of the earth where God's creatures were suffering.

We do not consider the debt we owe to Horace Mann, the father of our schools. Through all the strife he was an idealist whose ambition was to educate the mass and make this world a civilization, not an illiterate state.

Every American cherishes his equality as granted by our Constitution and trembles lest it be destroyed. Yet does he appreciate the struggle Thomas Jefferson waged to create this condition? His faith conquered the opposition and gave us this noble heritage. The Pioneers endured all kinds of hardships that they might keep faith with the coming generations. They built the moral and financial foundation which has made us one of the greatest nations of all time.

Today we have hundreds of examples of this attribute. Jane Addams, winner of the Nobel Prize, has devoted her life to the advancement of mankind. Her Hull House is world famous, but her task was not a bed of roses; she had many impediments, still she kept faith.

In this time of unrest and care, when funds are limited, students who otherwise might have advanced easily in their education are now working their way through college. This nation is their heritage. They will be mentally and morally prepared to take over their share of the work. They are keeping faith, the faith which President Roosevelt has used as a basis of his Reconstruction Program.

Soon we shall be faced with our own responsibilities. We must be ready to make the decision; we shall decide the policies of our country.

Undoubtedly, our biggest problem will be the raising and sustaining of the morale of the people after the depression. We must help our more unfortunate neighbors, give them a footing in the world and show that there is faith in humanity. For, "what Nature has disjoined in one, Wisdom may unite in another." If we do not aid these stranded persons, they will lapse into an intellectual lethargy, from which there is little hope of resurrection.

Once a person begins to slip socially and intellectually, his morals are degraded. Furthermore, when he cannot better himself, though he alone is to blame, he tries to forget all in dissipation. Then he is a ruined man. There is no longer any hope, for, in such a condition, he is physically and mentally unable to make himself economically independent. But should we instill faith before this catastrophe, all will be well.

To keep faith does not mean to take all for granted; everything that has been done has not been right. Theories have been exploded, innate beliefs proved untrue. However, we must profit by the mistakes of others; take what they have done, sift it for ourselves and make ourselves the people we ought to be.

Valedictory

Classmates,

For four long years our instructors have guided us along the path of culture. Though it was not all pleasure, we carry with us a fondness and a regret that we are leaving. Let us remember that our Education begins at graduation. Face the future with faith and do not live in the past.

And

"You to the left and I to the right,
For the ways of men must sever—
And it well may be for a day and a night,
And it well may be forever.
But whether we meet or whether we part
(For our ways are past our knowing),
A pledge from the heart to its fellow heart
On the ways we all are going!
Here's luck!
For we know not where we are going."
